

Extended Data Figure 3 | Linear polarization fraction of the bursts as a function of rotation measure. Different colours represent different observing sessions (see key). The grey line indicates the average rotation measure that yields the largest polarization fraction in the first observing session.